

FLORIDA ACADEMY OF SCIENCES
INSTRUCTIONS FOR PAYMENT OF INVOICES AND LIBRARY
SUBSCRIPTIONS BY PAYPAL
21 February 2018

The Florida Academy of Sciences allows payment of invoices for publication charges to authors of articles in Florida Scientist, PDFs of published articles, back issues of the journal, advertising charges in the journal, and library subscription purchases using credit cards through PayPal. The link below directs your browser to paypal.com. Caution: Some agencies and institutions do not allow use of corporate purchasing credit cards (P-cards) through third-party systems such as PayPal; please check with your business or purchasing office.

If you are paying during the months of November through March, you may pay directly to the Academy with a credit card by contacting the business office at 321-831-2500 (Jenny Bouchard, Office Manager).

If you already have a PayPal account you know what to do. Be certain to use the FAS email address (flacademyofsciences@gmail.com) and to identify the invoice number.

If you don't have a PayPal account, follow these instructions, including setting up an account associated with the credit card.

Go to www.paypal.com

Click on 'Send Money Now'.

Click on "Sign Up to Send Money".

Create an account.

Click on "Send Money".

Click on "Pay for goods or services".

Enter the FAS email address: flacademyofsciences@gmail.com

Enter the amount to be paid as shown on the invoice.

In the box "Add a note", enter the invoice number.

In the drop-down menu "Your shipping address", enter an address that could be used.

Click "Continue".

The credit card that you entered when you set up your account should appear automatically. If a different method is desired, click on "Change Payment Method"; click "Next" when done.

Click "Send Payments Now".

You should see a screen that states, "You've sent $xx.xx to flacademyofsciences@gmail.com"

You may now log out.

You should quickly receive a confirmation email, which you should retain for your records.